Last Lecture: Dr. James Sikarskie
“44 Years of Zoo and Wildlife Medicine and Management at MSU CVM”

Saturday, January 26, 2019

During the CVM Celebration at the Michigan Veterinary Conference

5:00 pm Doors Open
5:30 pm Program

Lansing Radisson- Ballroom
111 N. Grand Avenue, Lansing, MI 48933

The lecture will be available to watch live and recorded through the MSU Alumni Association at: https://livestream.com/msualumni/

Please join us for a reception celebrating Dr. Sikarskie’s retirement following his Last Lecture at the Lansing Radisson, with hors d’oeuvres and drinks. Registration to the MVC conference is not required to attend the lecture and reception.

For more information or to RSVP, contact the CVM Alumni Relations Office at alumni@cvm.msu.edu or 517-353-7199.

Through the generous support of Dean Emeritus John Welser and his wife Katie, the College of Veterinary Medicine is delighted to present a “last lecture” by a member of the profession who has had a distinguished career as a scholar and teacher, and who is recognized for leadership in shaping discussions regarding the biomedical sciences and related social issues. The lecturer will have an opportunity to reflect upon aspects of veterinary medicine and to share scientific, professional, or personal insights, based on his or her long and full involvement with the profession.