Clinical and translational research: Moving medicine forward

WITH Dr. Kipp Erickson, Director—CVM Center for Clinical Research & Translational Sciences

Friday, October 20, 2017
11:45am-1:00pm – Lunch & seminar
Buchanan Room (A-214) Veterinary Medical Complex

FOR ALL CVM FACULTY, STAFF AND GRADUATE STUDENTS

Clinical research is an important part of the process for discovering new ways to care for our patients. Combining clinical observations with lab-based discoveries and translating that knowledge into patient care practices is the basis for how medical knowledge moves forward. Dr. Kipp Erickson will lead a conversation on the various aspects of clinical and translational research, from working with industry funders to recruiting cases.

Please join us and bring your questions and experiences to the conversation.

Lunch will be provided.
